

Daily Dragon

Issue 3

Monday 28th July 2008

Daily Reminder!!

Units please remember to pick up your post from the house each day.

Please units remember to take your baby dragons to the Air Zone when you visit it.

Can units please let Jane Bevan know if you are able to host an Adult Leader for evening meals.

Weather Today
Sunny Intervals
Approx 20°C

Green Fact!!

Keep bugs away naturally with essential oils such as citronella, mint, eucalyptus and clove.

Save the environment don't use fungicides and herbicides to kill weeds, a small drop of boiling water works just as well – but take care.

Tomorrows Activities

Tomorrow morning come join in on a game of football.

Tuesday evening there will be a big camp fire up at the pit, so get your singing voices ready while you wash the dishes tonight.

Senior Section aged 14+ are invited to the chill zone in the stripy marquee each evening to join in on some games and fun. Starts ½ hour after the end of evening events.

The Freezer seems a little better today! It is now freezing some food but chilling others!!!

Will keep you posted on its recovery.

An anonymous Guide group has asked if people could please stop tripping over their guy lines! It is upsetting their pegs and is making life quite difficult. Please mind your step when moving between tents.

Thank you

Kitchen Mishaps

Super Cook Briony from 1st Bistre Guides set a tea towel on fire the other night whilst cooking dinner with her unit. No one was injured or burnt but the tea towel cannot be used anymore. She managed to control the fire.

Katie Sager and Steph Enston-Newell got very wet when their badly constructed wash stand collapsed and sent the dish washing water flying all over them.

Afternoon tea with the green dragon

Guess the feet!!
Can you guess who's feet these are?
Really muddy aren't they!

The answer will be put out in tomorrows Daily Dragon.

Tear this piece off and send in your messages or stories. Post it at the red post box inside the house

Strange occurrences...

1st Llanasa and Gwernafield Guides

saw a blue UFO floating around camp at approximately 11 o'clock. It was bright blue and it was zooming around in between different camps. Very spooky!

Clwyd Vale District Guides have reported sightings of a cat on the loose. It is reportedly a tabby one, but apparently it gave the girls the fright of their lives.

It may be wearing pink nail varnish, according to sources.

Leek on the loose (inside job suspected)

If you see a large leek around the campsite, PLEASE return it to Broughton's Camp (we are opposite the toilet/shower block). In time for Tuesday's supper would be good! Thank you Happy 14th birthday Kain Edwards from 7th Wrexham. This is also her 1st camp with guides.

The Shout Box

The three Guides from 2nd Llanddulas that cleaned the shower block last night are guiding stars. A big thank you

Lorna and Hannah of the Senior Section managed to draw at a challenging game of chess. Well done!

Congratulations to Major Shirley who made her promise last night. She spent her 1st night in a tent as well last night and was heard counting sheep by many guides and guiders.

Ellie Donnelly, from 1st Wepre Guides announced to everybody on the whole camp what her bra size is at midnight! She woke everybody up! They even heard in the camps across the road! Did you hear this information?

The girls at 2nd Llanddulas Guides wish to say an enormous THANKYOU to their leaders for bringing them. They think they are fantastic leaders.

Lauren Desmond, Alice Jones and Sadie wish to say happy camp to everybody! They also enjoyed cleaning the toilets the other day. Thank you for helping to keep the toilets tidy girls!
